Ariel Neuman is a trial lawyer who clients turn to for their most high-profile civil cases and criminal investigations.

Mr. Neuman is a decorated and highly respected litigator who is regarded as one of the country's top trial attorneys. He defends Fortune 100 companies in high-profile regulatory enforcement actions, represents professionals and entities involved in high-stakes business disputes, and assists clients of all sizes facing criminal investigation and prosecution in white collar matters. Described by Chambers USA as a "tough and tenacious advocate," Mr. Neuman leverages his courtroom skills and experience as a federal prosecutor to successfully represent clients confronting their most difficult litigation challenges in both the civil and criminal arena. His practice also involves discreet, thorough, and credible internal investigations of the most sensitive matters for multi-national corporations and others.

Mr. Neuman has led trial teams in federal and state courts and has argued numerous appeals before the Ninth Circuit. His ability and willingness to take matters to trial has led clients to seek out his assistance in "bet-the-company" litigation, and his clients come from diverse industries including financial services, healthcare, the energy and automotive sector, real estate, and the world of sports, gaming, and entertainment.

Representative matters include:

- Defending a Fortune 150 company at trial against criminal charges related to the largest oil spill in recent California history.
- Leading an internal investigation and related civil litigation for the Los Angeles Angels baseball team related to the death of pitcher Tyler Skaggs.
- Obtaining a multi-million dollar jury verdict and order to tear down an illegal mansion in Bel Air in a six-week trial against celebrity real estate developer Mohamed Hadid.
- Representing members of Congress in relation to grand jury investigations.
- Leading the defense for one of the world's largest vehicle manufacturers in various regulatory matters.

- Defending the owner of a multi-state grocery store chain in an investigation by the U.S. Attorney's Office.
- Representing an individual involved in a family dispute over a significant hotel property and related corporate entity.
- Representing a former NBA player charged with healthcare fraud in New York.
- Representing numerous entrepreneurs, private equity professionals, and investors in a variety of civil disputes related to business operations and investments.

Mr. Neuman is often recognized for his success. Among other commendations, he is ranked in Chambers USA in the Litigation: White-Collar Crime & Government Investigations category and was named the 2023 Lawyer of the Year for Criminal Defense: White-Collar by Best Lawyers®. Also in 2023, he was recognized as a Top 100 Lawyer by the Daily Journal. Along with his trial team, Mr. Neuman was awarded Benchmark Litigation's Impact Case of the Year for People v. Plains All American Pipeline.

Mr. Neuman is dedicated to mentorship programs for up-and-coming attorneys and aiding nonprofit organizations focused on serving underrepresented communities. For over a decade, he has served as visiting faculty at Harvard Law School's Trial Advocacy Workshop, and in 2020 he joined the board of Bet Tzedek Legal Services. Prior to that he served as a former board member for the Los Angeles Center for Law and Justice.

Before joining Bird Marella, Mr. Neuman served as an Assistant United States Attorney in Los Angeles for nearly seven years. Mr. Neuman was named Prosecutor of the Year by the Federal Law Enforcement Officers' Association and received numerous commendations and awards for his service. He led high-profile investigations and prosecutions of white-collar and violent crimes and was also responsible for the domestic portion of several international investigations.

Represented multiple members of Congress in various grand jury investigations.

Represents a former NBA player in a healthcare fraud case pending in the Southern District of New York.

In “bet-the-company” litigation, defeated a preliminary injunction demand that would have shuttered oil-services business and required firing of all employees.

Represented one of the largest minority-owned broker/dealers in a FINRA arbitration and successfully defeated a demand for a permanent injunction regarding certain business practices related to muni bonds and fixed income investments.

Represented a financial professional involved in a dispute with his former business partners, who attempted to freeze Mr. Neuman’s client’s out of the partnership and deprive him of his rightful assets and membership interests. The matter was confidentially settled to the satisfaction of Mr. Neuman’s client.

Represents a doctor in an investigation by the DOJ related to various health care fraud allegations. Mr. Neuman convinced the Assistant U.S. Attorney to reverse a decision to indict the client on charges of billing for non-existent or medically unnecessary procedures.

Represented a CFO and part owner of a media holding company against money laundering and Travel Act charges in connection with the recent indictment in Arizona relating to Backpage.com, as well as in connection with numerous related forfeiture proceedings in Los Angeles.

Represented a patent attorney under investigation for violation of the Hobbs Act (extortion involving threats of financial harm). Mr. Neuman set the stage for his client to get immunity from the Department of Justice.

Represented an individual under investigation for antitrust, anti-competitive activities in the public works construction area. The investigation was closed without any charges being filed against Mr. Neuman’s client.

Represented an immigration attorney charged with securities fraud and other violations by the SEC related to the attorney’s work on behalf of clients seeking EB-5 visas.

Represented two prominent physicians under investigation for alleged Medicare and Medicaid fraud. The United States Attorney's Office and Department of Health and Human Services – Office of the Inspector General, closed the investigation without filing any charges against Mr. Neuman's clients.

Conducted an internal investigation for the Chinese subsidiary of a US-based technology company. The investigation focused on possible FCPA and tax violations, and was concluded without any finding of wrong-doing.

In major federal trade-based money laundering prosecution, secured settlement for client that resulted in dismissal of money laundering charges. Mr. Neuman and his colleagues successfully argued for the suppression of evidence illegally seized from one of the client's business locations.

Represents a corporate executive facing a civil contempt action brought by the Federal Trade Commission. This case is on hold while other litigation continues, but to date Mr. Neuman has successfully prevented the FTC from deposing his client.

Representative Matters at the U.S. Attorney's Office

In a three-week jury trial of a defendant charged with crimes related to tax evasion, art theft, and art fraud, Mr. Neuman and a colleague secured convictions on all charges. Mr. Neuman joined the case only weeks before trial, took over opening and closing arguments as well as the examination of numerous key witnesses, and earned accolades for his trial advocacy skills from colleagues and onlookers.

Led the investigation and prosecution of over a dozen defendants involved in a $20 million mortgage and bank fraud scheme involving short sale and lending fraud on over 35 properties around Southern California. Among the defendants was a former bank officer who accepted bribes to manipulate the bank's short sale process.

In a matter that garnered world-wide media attention, secured the extradition to Mexico of a television producer on charges of murdering his wife at a Cancun resort and then fleeing back to the United States.

Prosecuted over 200 defendants for violations of federal racketeering (“RICO”) laws. As part of these and related cases, won several jury trials where defendants were convicted of RICO charges, murder conspiracy charges, alien smuggling offenses, firearms offenses, and narcotics distribution charges.
